

R+D position in the framework of the Project BIOSOSINV: “Cutting-edge strategies for a sustainable biorefinery based on valorization of invasive species” (reference PID2019-110031RB-I00, funded by the Ministry of Science, Innovation and Universities, Spain).

The candidates must send their CV (1 – 5 pages) to following email: gil@uvigo.es

Deadline for receipt of applications: 1st December 2020.

The result of the selection procedure will be published with the successful candidate and the candidates on the reserve list (in the web page of research group <http://bv1.webs.uvigo.es>).

Requirements of the candidates:

- Higher studies completed in Environmental Sciences, Food Science and Technology, Agricultural Engineering, Chemical Engineering, Chemical, or similar.
- Good command of English.
- Ability to carry out research work.
- Ability to prepare technical documents and dissemination materials.
- Ability to work in teams.

Detailed job description:

- Type of contract: Contract of 20 h weekly for a specific project or service
- Contract period: 6 months
- Estimated starting date: 1st January 2021
- Gross monthly salary: around 700 euros
- Location: Faculty of Science (U. Vigo), Ourense.

Selection process:

It will be based on the candidate updated CV, considering

- Academic background (4 points)
- Experience (2 points)
- Other merits (1 point)

The selective process will be resolved by the main researchers of the Project (Beatriz Gullón Estévez and Gil Garrote Velasco). The results will be communicated to the candidates by email, establishing a deadline for complaints before communicating the final results. All the results will be published in the web page of the research group: <http://bv1.webs.uvigo.es> The schedule of process is:

- December 1st 2020: end of the period to receipt the applications.
- December 3rd – 4th 2020: publication of provisional proposal. Opening of the complaints period (by email to gil@uvigo.es).
- December 6th – 7th 2020: final proposal.